OPERATING INSTRUCTIONS - please read carefully!

Congratulations on your decision for the new PIANOFIT® PREMIUM!
You have decided on a product with the highest handcraft and technical demands. PIANOFIT® is protected by patent and trademark.

As there are no comparison products, the following must be observed when using:
Always be careful when handling, because it is a one-of-a-kind piece of art that was made by hand. Treat the PIANOFIT® with the same care as your grand piano for which you bought it. Any acceptance by the MOT is not mandatory for the product, so we are not liable for any handling damage. Above all, children and all first-time users must be instructed in order to avoid injury or damage.

When delivered, the panel is reversed in the guide between the two pivot points on the side. If the acrylic is cold, it is more difficult to maneuver the music rest sheet than in e.g. room temperature.
Lift the sheet slightly and pull it out carefully and completely. Now reverse the panel back into the guiding rails so that the storage surface for the notes is facing you.

If you want to adjust the panel to your needs, pull the sheet out again to the assumed height - after slightly lifting it - and turn it towards the keyboard until the angle you want is reached. Caution! If you want to make a correction in height, you have to bring the sheet back into the horizontal position, because this is the only way to pull it out. You can repeat this process as often as you like. Ideally, you should do this with the help of another person who secures the tray on one side.

Since the solid materials that we use for the PIANOFIT® naturally involve some weight, please never handle the object in an uncontrolled manner. In addition, the handling of the PIANOFIT® is self-evident ...

We hope that our development will make it easier for you to practice on the grand piano and promote your learning progress.
