

OPERATING INSTRUCTIONS - please read carefully!

Congratulations on deciding for the new PIANOFIT® PREMIUM! You have chosen a product with highest technical demands on handcraft.

PIANOFIT® products are protected by patent and trademark.

As there are no comparable products, the following must be observed during use: Always handle the desks with caution, because it is a one-of-a-kind item of value that was manufactured by hand. Treat the PIANOFIT® with the same care as your grand piano for which you bought it.

Since the solid materials that we use for PIANOFIT® products naturally involve some weight, please never handle the desk in an uncontrolled manner. As with the grand piano itself, acceptance by the official inspection is not mandatory for the product, so we are not liable for any handling damage. Above all, children and all first-time users must be instructed on how to use the desk so that injuries or damage do not occur. Attention! If the acrylic glass has cooled down below room temperature, the mechanics are a little more difficult to maneuver. Please do not use harsh detergents, but clean the desk with a soft window cloth and little moisture or gentle detergent. On the other hand, acrylic glass in combination with metal must never be exposed to direct sunlight for longer periods or regularly due to the high coefficient of expansion. This can lead to cracks at the seams between metal and acrylic glass.

Use the desk as follows:

1. Place the desk with the tray for the music sheets and the rotating mechanism facing you on the front edge of the grand's cover.
2. Raise the tray until you feel resistance. Within the range between 0 and approx. 25 ° in which the shelf can be easily maneuvered, you can now adjust the height and angle of inclination according to your requirements. Please always make sure that the filing sheet does not slide down.
3. If you want to make a correction, turn the tray back into the maneuverable area. Now you can set the height again by pushing the plate in or pulling it out.
4. You can repeat this process as often as you like.

The desk can only be transported by the handle recess when it is fully folded. The tray snaps easily into place.

We hope that our development will make it easier for you to practice on the grand piano and promote its user's learning progress.
